Notes:

- This is the signature theme for Tommy Dorsey and his Orchestra and was played for the opening and closing of all broadcasts except during the ASCAP vs. Radio Industry conflict of 41-01-01 to 41-10-31.
- The Victor ledgers date the master take as October 18, 1935 but the blue history card notes it as October 17, 1935.
- The Victor blue history card notes that Victor 27518 is issued from dub [3]4R. Other releases may therefore have been pressed from this dub.

TOMMY DORSEY

(1937-1938)

VOLUMES 3/4

Le swing à chaque coin de rue

Si l'on était à New York dans la seconde moitié des années trente, il suffisait de se rendre à l'Hôtel Pennsylvania pour entendre Benny Goodman – couronné roi de la nouvelle folie – en compagnie de son grand orchestre et du fantastique batteur Gene Krupa. Si l'on décidait de pousser une ou deux rues plus loin, l'on trouvait Jimmy Dorsey avec Bob Eberly et Helen O'Connell ou encore Artie Shaw et sa chanteuse Helen Forrest, qui se produisaient à l'hôtel Lincoln. L'on pouvait aussi se rendre au Grill Room du Lexington pour applaudir Bob Crosby and his Dixieland Bob Cats. Au Roosevelt Grill, Guy Lombardo distillait une musique sirupeuse alors qu'au Commodore, Red Norvo et sa femme Mildred Bailey dirigeaient une petite formation subtile et originale.

In New York during the latter half of the 1930's you only had to go as far as the Pennsylvania Hotel to hear the big-band sounds of the "King of Swing", Benny Goodman, propelled by the fanatic drumming of Gene Krupa. Just a block or two further, at the Hotel Lincoln, you would find Jimmy Dorsey with singers Bob Eberly and Helen O'Connell, or otherwise Artie Shaw and his vocalist Helen Forrest. Then there was the Grill Room in Lexington where Bob Crosby's Bob Cats held forth. At the Roosevelt Grill Guy Lombardo served up his own particular syrupy brew, while at the Commodore "Red" Norvo and his wife Mildred Bailey led a subtle, highly original little outfit.

Woody Herman played the big dance spots such as the Roost, and the Savoy Ballroom featured the fabulous Chick Webb and Ella Fitzgerald. Duke Ellington officiated, every night at the Cotton Club, whereas the Paradise Restaurant was billing a new, totally unknown orchestra led by a certain Glenn Miller. Anybody wanting just to listen without being disturbed by dancers had only to go as far as the Strand to hear Xavier Cugat's Latin rhythms, or to Loew's State to pick up on Jimmie Lunceford, failing which there was always the option of going to see a film at the Paramount, where the Tommy Dorsey orchestra, with the gorgeous Edythe Wright, contributed to the pleasures of the evening. This does not mean that Jimmie Lunceford or Tommy Dorsey did not play for dancing. Jimmie often appeared at the Savoy, whereas Tommy frequently alternated with Benny Goodman at the Pennsylvania Roof. Those with cars had an even richer choice. Larry Clinton played at the New Rochelle Casino just a few miles outside New York City, and Glen Gray's Casa Loma Orchestra was based in New Jersey. At the other extreme, anyone inclined not to go out at all had only to turn on the radio to have access to a multiplicity of big bands playing at venues up and down the country.
